						Chanler, I thought I was sending the photo to someone else, I know multiple Craig's and even two Craig Taylor's believe it or not. This is the first I've learned of Craig Taylor getting sent this photo errantly - which honestly I just laughed reading this. Everyone needs to lighten up a bit. If Craig has issue I can surely apologize, but in now way are the others in the photo apologizing for something I did by accident. Plus this only went to Craig directly and not in some social arena that could be perceived as damaging his reputation. Considering I don't need Craig's phone number so in the future this won't happen again. Merry Xmas

Geoffrey, Thank you for your message. It is my understanding that Mr. Taylor received the message and photo in error. It was not meant for him to receive it and it was not directed at him either. Indeed, the message had nothing to do with Mr. Taylor or the lawsuit that we amicably resolved. This message was sent to a large number of people who have done business or have been associated with Atlas in the past, including a person with the same name as your client: Craig Taylor. I believe the tag line was "Happy Holidays from Atlas." Although the sense of humor may be lost on sum, this apparently is there version of a humorous holiday card. I have requested that Adam delete Mr. Taylor's contact information so that this mistake will not happen again. Regards, - Chanler A. Langham
